Why Should I Get An IV Drip?

Research shows that our gut, or GI tract, is essential for much more than just digesting food. It influences all aspects of health from fighting infections, preventing mood disorders, boosting immunity and controlling inflammation in the body. As we get older, our gut is not able to absorb nutrients as efficiently and we lose the benefits of those nutrients which can help us maintain wellness and overall good health.

IV infusions are a fast, safe and smart way to hydrate and bypass our aging gut and ensure that we get enough essential micro nutrients into our body to counter act the aging process, increase energy and restore Vitality.

Vitality Hormones & IV Bar offers an amazing menu of customized IV drips, specially crafted and researched by our board-certified physicians and nurse practitioners to help you live your best life!

NAD+ Drip

Anti-Aging & Vitality

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

There is a huge difference in aging and aging well. That's why you're here and that's why Vitality created the NAD+ drip. NAD+ is a powerful coenzyme which is absolutely essential for life, and scientists have made incredible progress in understanding how its anti-aging properties provide benefits from head to toe.

So, what does NAD+ do?

Basically, it keeps each cell running like a tiny, well-oiled machine by promoting metabolism and DNA repair. When your cells live longer and function in top form, you enjoy clearer skin, thicker hair, more energy, and less brain fog. In other words, you feel (and look) young!

Please note that because the ingredients in the NAD+ drip are so powerful; it must be given slowly over two hours. So, make sure you plan to stay a bit longer with us when you get the Fountain of Youth drip.

Supercharge Ingredient List

Any of these vitamins and nutrients may be added to supercharge most drips or to customize your own personal formula.

Vitamin C

Vitamin C, also known as ascorbic acid, is necessary for the growth, development and repair of all body tissues. It's involved in many body functions including immune system support, wound healing, as well as maintenance of cartilage, bones, and teeth. The more we study vitamin C, the better our understanding of how diverse it is in protecting our health from cardiovascular disease, cancer, stroke, eye health and immunity.

Magnesium

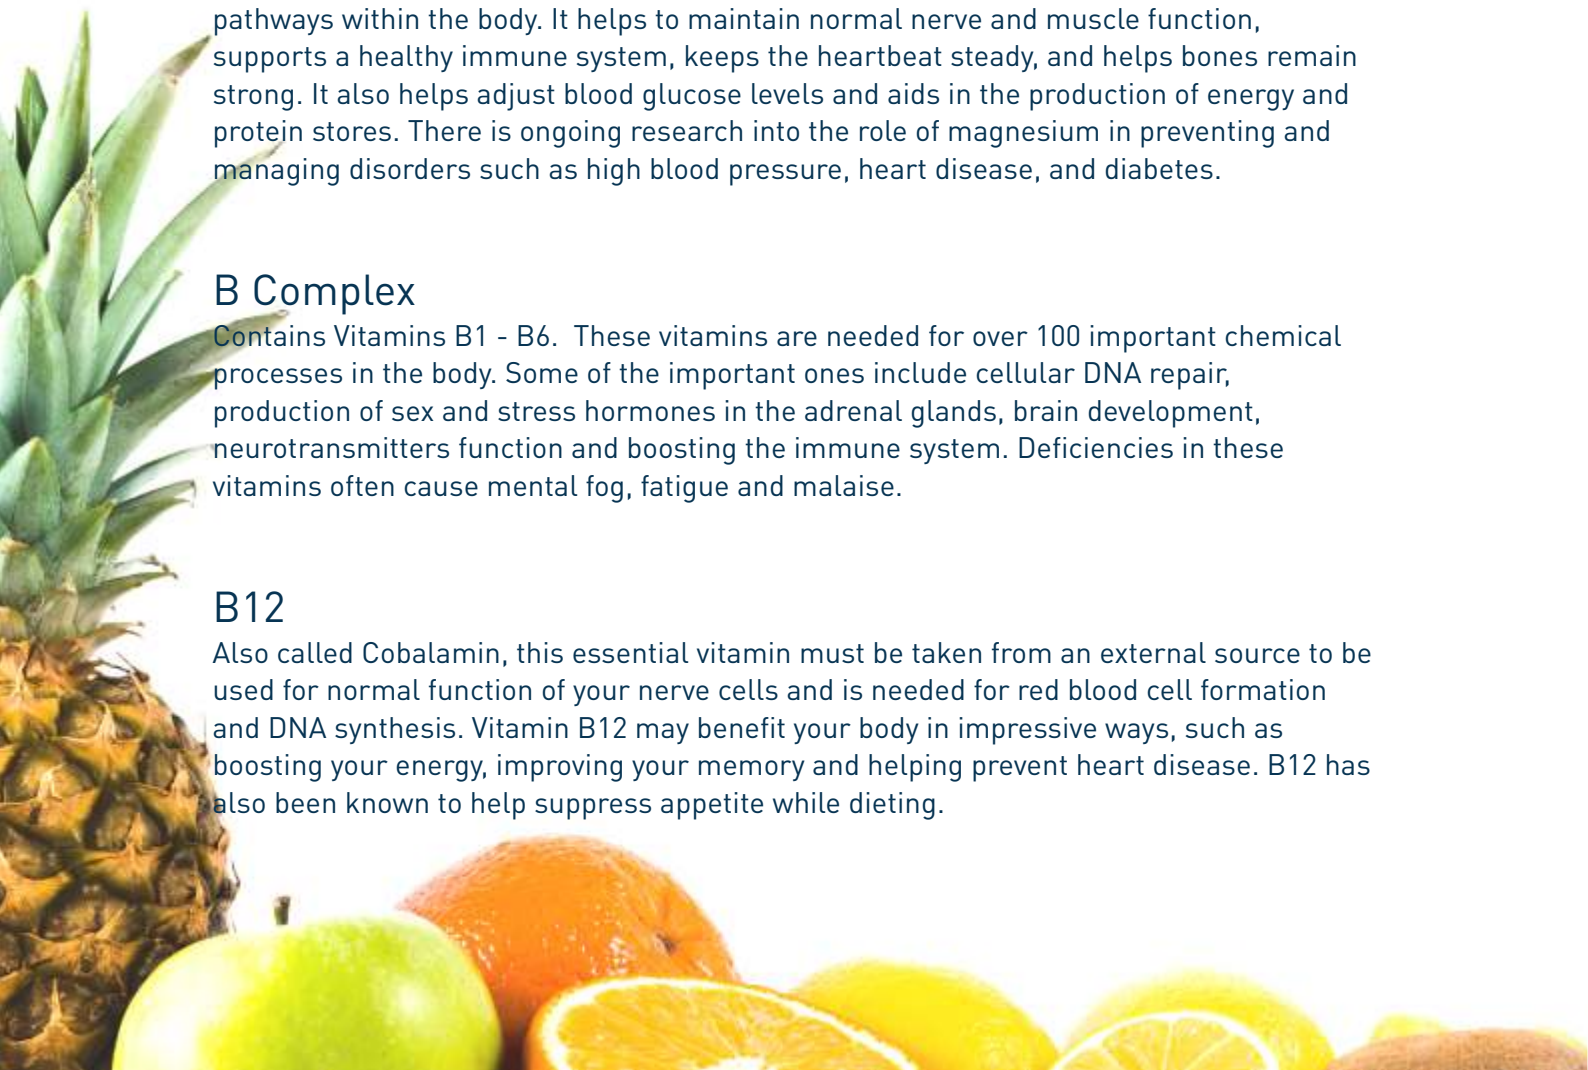

Magnesium is a trace mineral that is needed for more than 300 important metabolic pathways within the body. It helps to maintain normal nerve and muscle function, supports a healthy immune system, keeps the heartbeat steady, and helps bones remain strong. It also helps adjust blood glucose levels and aids in the production of energy and protein stores. There is ongoing research into the role of magnesium in preventing and managing disorders such as high blood pressure, heart disease, and diabetes.

B Complex

Contains Vitamins B1 - B6. These vitamins are needed for over 100 important chemical processes in the body. Some of the important ones include cellular DNA repair, production of sex and stress hormones in the adrenal glands, brain development, neurotransmitters function and boosting the immune system. Deficiencies in these vitamins often cause mental fog, fatigue and malaise.

B12

Also called Cobalamin, this essential vitamin must be taken from an external source to be used for normal function of your nerve cells and is needed for red blood cell formation and DNA synthesis. Vitamin B12 may benefit your body in impressive ways, such as boosting your energy, improving your memory and helping prevent heart disease. B12 has also been known to help suppress appetite while dieting.

Zinc

Zinc is an essential mineral that must be taken from an external source. It's an important mineral that is used in the normal function of the immune system as well as maintenance of collagen; the fundamental unit that holds skin and organs together. What's more, body growth and development rely on zinc because of its role in cell growth and division. Supplementation of zinc may have anti-aging properties and immune boosting properties.

Multi-trace

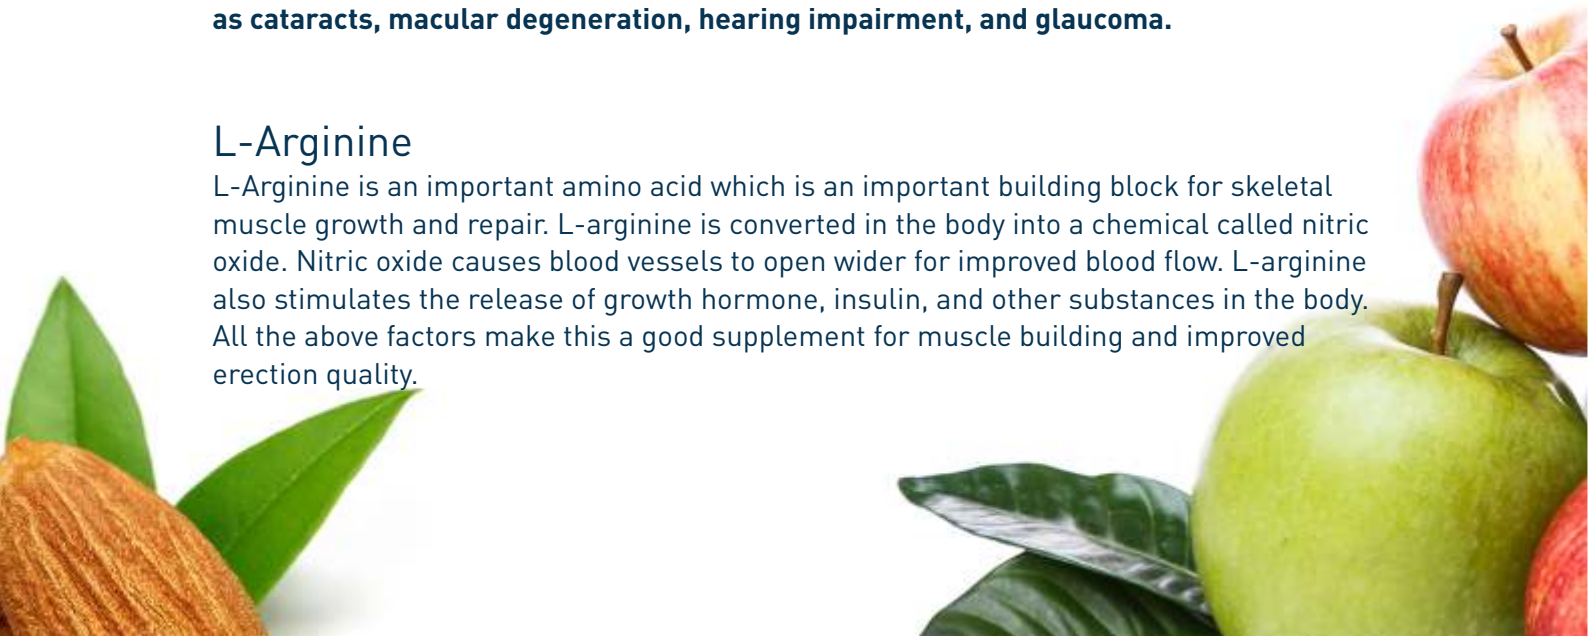

Contains elements Zinc, Copper, Manganese, Chromium, and Selenium. These minerals are essential for normal cell function including supporting healthy thyroid and adrenal function and immune system performance. Increased supplementation shows evidence of anti-aging benefits, immune boosting and anti-inflammatory properties.

Glutathione

Glutathione is a cellular antioxidant. It's comprised largely of three amino acids: glutamine, glycine, and cysteine. Antioxidants are substances that prevent and slow damage to cells by counteracting metabolic waste and environmental stressors that can permanently damage your cells. Research has shown correlation between Glutathione depletion and the development of cardiovascular disease such as hypertension, neurodegenerative disease such as Alzheimer's and Chronic age-related diseases such as cataracts, macular degeneration, hearing impairment, and glaucoma.

L-Arginine

L-Arginine is an important amino acid which is an important building block for skeletal muscle growth and repair. L-arginine is converted in the body into a chemical called nitric oxide. Nitric oxide causes blood vessels to open wider for improved blood flow. L-arginine also stimulates the release of growth hormone, insulin, and other substances in the body. All the above factors make this a good supplement for muscle building and improved erection quality.

Toradol (Pain Relief)

This is a strong anti-inflammatory medication that reduces swelling and pain. This pain medication is effective in treating a variety of pain complaints such as muscle pain, joint pain, headaches and even kidney stones.
